Cerámicas Alteret, S.L. is a company that manufactures handmade terracotta ceramics.

According to the UNE-EN 14411: 2016 norm, our floor and wall tiles are classified in group C, this regulation does not include ceramic tiles manufactured by processes other than extrusion or dry pressing. The norm that encompasses our product does not require a minimum specification for any of the characteristics that may be measured according to the different tests detailed by the UNE-EN 14411 norm.

As for CE MARKING, the UNE-EN 14411 norm describes the test methods that are required to determine the majority of the product features included in this European standard. This standard does not include tiles manufactured by processes other than extrusion or dry pressing, and also does not include dry pressed ceramic tiles not glazed with water absorption greater than 10%. Therefore, our handmade ceramic tiles are not within the scope of this standard.
